Due Date

- Friday, August 16, 2024 regardless of which semester you take the class.

Required Materials

- Single-subject, spiral bound notebook
- Paperclip
- Blue or black ink pen
- Copy of Fahrenheit 451
- Copy of one of the books from the Choice Read list at the end of this packet

Write your full name on the front or back cover of your notebook. Attach the paperclip to a page at the midpoint of the notebook to separate the two assignments. Label the first page Fahrenheit 451; the section that starts at the paperclip should be labeled the name of your Choice Read book. Under the name of each book, write the copyright year and number of pages.

Directions for both Fahrenheit 451 and Choice Read book

As you read, write your reactions in your notebook. Each entry should be numbered and also include the page number of the book you are responding to. Leave a blank line between each entry. SEE EXAMPLE. Write a one-sentence entry for approximately every 5 pages. Handwriting should be clear and easily readable.

- Do not retell or summarize the story
- Ask questions
- Make connections to other parts of the book
- Make comments
- Make predictions
- Note anything confusing
- Note anything that strikes you as important
- Always use character names and specific events

Directions for both Fahrenheit 451 and Choice Read book (continued)

Entries that will NOT receive credit:

- This part of the story is really interesting.
- I wonder what will happen next.
- I didn't understand what is going on in this part of the story.

Proper entries:

- I was surprised when Leon shouted at Helen outside the fire station because he is usually so shy.
- Mrs. Reardonson's erratic behavior makes me think she will eventually admit that her daughter Emily killed Dr. Cook.
- Why doesn't Jack Klugman just divorce his wife after he found out about her affair?

Example for Fahrenheit 451 and Choice Read book

	Book Title
	Copyright 2006 506 Pages
1	Page 5--The argument between Saul and his older brother Alex seems to make the story start off quickly.
2	Page 10-- why are there so many references to food and eating together as a family so far?
3	Page 13--I have a feeling that Alex is hiding something because this is the third time he has gone off on his own without telling anybody where he was going or when he would be back.

Fahrenheit 451

Fahrenheit 451 PARENTAL ADVISORY:

This novel represents the dangers of technology and a mistrust of written knowledge. This novel contains attempted suicide, death, mild language, and mild violence. Should an alternate title be requested, the request must be submitted to Mr. Pomeroy no later than July 16, 2024 via email.

For Fahrenheit 451 specifically, pay close attention to the following.

- technology
- censorship
- conformity
- the importance of books
- manipulation of the masses
- utopia and dystopia
- loss of individuality
- the mass media

Guy Montag is a fireman. His job is to destroy the most illegal of commodities, the printed book, along with the houses in which they are hidden. Montag never questions the destruction and ruin his actions produce, returning each day to his bland life and wife, Mildred, who spends all day with her television “family.” But when he meets an eccentric young neighbor, Clarisse, who introduces him to a past where people didn’t live in fear and to a present where one sees the world through the ideas in books instead of the mindless chatter of television, Montag begins to question everything he has ever known. ## Choice Novel List

The purpose of reading this choice novel is to help build your personal “library” of classic literature. This knowledge will help you succeed on the AP Literature Free Response Question #3 in the future. NOTE: You will not be allowed to read the same novel twice within the Honors / AP pathway (grades 9-12).

Choice Read PARENTAL ADVISORY: Parents should monitor the choice of book from the list included in this packet for any objectionable content and help their student make a choice accordingly. Consider using commonsensemedia.org for assistance.

An American Tragedy* by Theodore Dreiser

'An American Tragedy' is the story of Clyde Griffiths, who spends his life in the desperate pursuit of success. On a deeper, more profound level, it is the masterful portrayal of the society whose values both shape Clyde's ambitions and seal his fate; it is an unsurpassed depiction of the harsh realities of American life and of the dark side of the American dream. Extraordinary in scope and power, vivid in its sense of wholesale human waste, unceasing in its rich compassion, 'An American Tragedy' stands as Theodore Dreiser's supreme achievement. [Goodreads.com]

Beloved* by Toni Morrison

Sethe was born a slave and escaped to Ohio, but eighteen years later she is still not free. She has borne the unthinkable and not gone mad, yet she is still held captive by memories of Sweet Home, the beautiful farm where so many hideous things happened. Meanwhile Sethe's house has long been troubled by the angry, destructive ghost of her baby, who died nameless and whose tombstone is engraved with a single word: Beloved.

Sethe works at beating back the past, but it makes itself heard and felt incessantly in her memory and in the lives of those around her. When a mysterious teenage girl arrives, calling herself Beloved, Sethe's terrible secret explodes into the present. [Goodreads.com]

Crime and Punishment* by Fyodor Dostoyevsky

Raskolnikov, a destitute and desperate former student, wanders through the slums of St Petersburg and commits a random murder without remorse or regret. He imagines himself to be a great man, a Napoleon: acting for a higher purpose beyond conventional moral law. But as he embarks on a dangerous game of cat and mouse with a suspicious police investigator, Raskolnikov is pursued by the growing voice of his conscience and finds the noose of his own guilt tightening around his neck. Only Sonya, a downtrodden sex worker, can offer the chance of redemption. [Goodreads.com]

Great Expectations* by Charles Dickens

In what may be Dickens's best novel, humble, orphaned Pip is apprenticed to the dirty work of the forge but dares to dream of becoming a gentleman — and one day, under sudden and enigmatic circumstances, he finds himself in possession of "great expectations." In this gripping tale of crime and guilt, revenge and reward, the compelling characters include Magwitch, the fearful and fearsome convict; Estella, whose beauty is excelled only by her haughtiness; and the embittered Miss Havisham, an eccentric jilted bride. [Goodreads.com]

Invisible Man* by Ralph Ellison

As he journeys from the Deep South to the streets and basements of Harlem, from a horrifying "battle royal" where black men are reduced to fighting animals, to a Communist rally where they are elevated to the status of trophies, Ralph Ellison's nameless protagonist ushers readers into a parallel universe that throws our own into harsh and even hilarious relief. Suspenseful and sardonic, narrated in a voice that takes in the symphonic range of the American language, black and white, Invisible Man is one of the most audacious and dazzling novels of our century. [Goodreads.com]

Jane Eyre* by Charlotte Bronte

Orphaned as a child, Jane has felt an outcast her whole young life. Her courage is tested once again when she arrives at Thornfield Hall, where she has been hired by the brooding, proud Edward Rochester to care for his ward Adèle. Jane finds herself drawn to his troubled yet kind spirit. She falls in love. Hard. But there is a terrifying secret inside the gloomy, forbidding Thornfield Hall. Is Rochester hiding from Jane? Will Jane be left heartbroken and exiled once again? [Goodreads.com]

Heart of Darkness* by Joseph Conrad

Heart of Darkness, a novel by Joseph Conrad, was originally a three-part series in Blackwood's Magazine in 1899. It is a story within a story, following a character named Charlie Marlow, who recounts his adventure to a group of men onboard an anchored ship. The story told is of his early life as a ferry boat captain. Although his job was to transport ivory downriver, Charlie develops an interest in investing in an ivory procurement agent, Kurtz, who is employed by the government. Preceded by his reputation as a brilliant emissary of progress, Kurtz has now established himself as a god among the natives in "one of the darkest places on earth." Marlow suspects something else of Kurtz: he has gone mad. [Goodreads.com]

The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn* by Mark Twain

A nineteenth-century boy from a Mississippi River town recounts his adventures as he travels down the river with a runaway slave, encountering a family involved in a feud, two scoundrels pretending to be royalty, and Tom Sawyer's aunt who mistakes him for Tom. [Goodreads.com]

Moby Dick* by Herman Melville

In part, Moby Dick is the story of an eerily compelling madman pursuing an unholy war against a creature as vast and dangerous and unknowable as the sea itself. But more than just a novel of adventure, more than an encyclopedia of whaling lore and legend, the book can be seen as part of its author's lifelong meditation on America. Written with wonderfully redemptive humor, Moby Dick is also a profound inquiry into character, faith, and the nature of perception. [Goodreads.com]

The Scarlet Letter* by Kate Chopin

Hester Prynne, a young woman who has borne a child out of wedlock, is forced to wear the scarlet letter A on her dress as punishment for her sin. As both a badge of shame and a beautifully wrought human artifact, it reflects the many oppositions in the novel, such as those between order and transgression, civilization and wilderness, the town and the surrounding forest, adulthood and childhood. [Amazon.com]

The Awakening* by Kate Chopin

When first published in 1899, The Awakening shocked readers with its honest treatment of female marital infidelity. Audiences accustomed to the pieties of late Victorian romantic fiction were taken aback by Chopin's daring portrayal of a woman trapped in a stifling marriage, who seeks and finds passionate physical love outside the confines of her domestic situation.

Aside from its unusually frank treatment of a then-controversial subject, the novel is widely admired today for its literary qualities. Edmund Wilson characterized it as a work "quite uninhibited and beautifully written, which anticipates D. H. Lawrence in its treatment of infidelity." Although the theme of marital infidelity no longer shocks, few novels have plumbed the psychology of a woman involved in an illicit relationship with the perception, artistry, and honesty that Kate Chopin brought to The Awakening. [Goodreads.com]

The Color Purple* by Alice Walker

A powerful cultural touchstone of modern American literature, The Color Purple depicts the lives of African American women in early twentieth-century rural Georgia. Separated as girls, sisters Celie and Nettie sustain their loyalty to and hope in each other across time, distance and silence. Through a series of letters spanning twenty years, first from Celie to God, then the sisters to each other despite the unknown, the novel draws readers into its rich and memorable portrayals of Celie, Nettie, Shug Avery and Sofia and their experience. The Color Purple broke the silence around domestic and sexual abuse, narrating the lives of women through their pain and struggle, companionship and growth, resilience and bravery. Deeply compassionate and beautifully imagined, Alice Walker's epic carries readers on a spirit-affirming journey towards redemption and love.

Pride and Prejudice* by Jane Austen

Since its immediate success in 1813, Pride and Prejudice has remained one of the most popular novels in the English language. Jane Austen called this brilliant work "her own darling child" and its vivacious heroine, Elizabeth Bennet, "as delightful a creature as ever appeared in print." The romantic clash between the opinionated Elizabeth and her proud beau, Mr. Darcy, is a splendid performance of civilized sparring. And Jane Austen's radiant wit sparkles as her characters dance a delicate quadrille of flirtation and intrigue, making this book the most superb comedy of manners of Regency England. [Goodreads.com]

Gulliver's Travels* by Jonathan Swift

Gulliver's Travels describes the four voyages of Lemuel Gulliver, a ship's surgeon. In Lilliput he discovers a world in miniature; towering over the people and their city, he is able to view their society from the viewpoint of a god. However, in Brobdingnag, a land of giants, tiny Gulliver himself comes under observation, exhibited as a curiosity at markets and fairs. In Laputa, a flying island, he encounters a society of speculators and projectors who have lost all grip on everyday reality; while they plan and calculate, their country lies in ruins. Gulliver's final voyage takes him to the land of the Houyhnhnms, gentle horses whom he quickly comes to admire - in contrast to the Yahoos, filthy bestial creatures who bear a disturbing resemblance to humans. [Goodreads.com]

Brave New World* by Aldous Huxley

Brave New World is a dystopian novel by English author Aldous Huxley, written in 1931 and published in 1932. Largely set in a futuristic World State, inhabited by genetically modified citizens and an intelligence-based social hierarchy, the novel anticipates huge scientific advancements in reproductive technology, sleep-learning, psychological manipulation and classical conditioning that are combined to make a dystopian society which is challenged by only a single individual: the story's protagonist.
