

GT July Enrichment

Parents/Guardians,

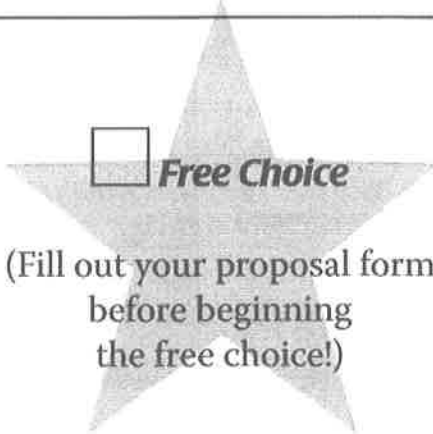

These ELA & Math resources will enrich and add depth to the thinking of your GT student through the summer because they encourage:

- Multiple pathways for solutions
- Analysis of word relationships and letters within words
- Backwards thinking (What doesn't belong?)
- Analogies
- Logic
- Creativity
- Student choice
- Multi-step problems
- Ranking (requiring analyzation)
- Analyzation of different number combinations to arrive at answers
- Error analysis

Until next time,

Your GT Coach

Brainstorming Homophones

As you know, homophones are words that sound the same but have different spellings and meanings.

The Basics

Listed below is one word in a homophone pair. Write the other word in the pair.

Allowed	Packed
Beach	Pale
Days	Rain
Great	Road
Lane	Seen
Leek	Waste

The Challenge

Your challenge is to write three sentences using a pair of homophones from the table above in the same sentence.

Example: I heard the loud, thundering herd of elephants.

Write your own sentences below.

1. _____

2. _____

3. _____

Name _____

Read the clues, then write the words.

Start at the bottom and climb to the top.

The partner of a bride.
Add one letter.

A section of a house
or building.
Change one letter.

To go from place to place.
To wander.
Change one letter.

Another word for street or path.
Take away one letter,
then add one.

To have ridden on something.
Add one letter.

A long, thin stick.
Change the vowel.

To remove something, as in "Get ____ of that junk."
Take away one letter.

To travel on an animal
or in a vehicle.
Take away two letters.

To walk, taking large steps.
Take away the first letter,
then add two.

Same Class

Name _____

Is To

The first two underlined words in each sentence name things that are in the same group or class. Read the third underlined word. Complete each sentence with a word in the same class as the third underlined word.

Tip ✓

A queen is to a czar as baseball is to football.

Say to yourself: A queen and a czar are both rulers; baseball and football are both sports.

1. Cousin is to aunt as oval is to _____.
(A) egg (B) uncle (C) circle
2. A biography is to a novel as coffee is to _____.
(A) dark (B) tea (C) mystery
3. A peach is to an apricot as a jeep is to a _____.
(A) sedan (B) tire (C) plum
4. A quail is to a pigeon as a butterfly is to a _____.
(A) gnat (B) dove (C) flower
5. A diamond is to an emerald as a hurricane is to a _____.
(A) sunshine (B) ruby (C) tornado
6. A pencil is to a pen as a tailor is to a _____.
(A) crayon (B) shoemaker (C) thread
7. A redwood is to a maple as a pumpkin is to a _____.
(A) pineapple (B) beet (C) birch
8. A mop is to a broom as a museum is to a _____.
(A) library (B) painting (C) bucket

THINK!

Tell a partner what the groups for each word pair are.

Antonyms

Name _____

Antonym Sentences

The first two underlined words in each sentence name antonyms. Complete each sentence with an antonym for the third underlined word.

Tip ✓

Smile is to frown as powerful is to weak.

Say to yourself: Smile is the opposite of frown,
and powerful is the opposite of weak.

1. Valuable is to worthless as comic is to _____.
(A) funny (B) tragic (C) worthy
2. Professional is to amateur as bold is to _____.
(A) grin (B) volunteer (C) bashful
3. Low is to high as southeast is to _____.

Busy as a Beaver: A Little Book of Animal Idioms

The animal world is filled with creatures possessing unique traits. These traits sparked many idioms that we use to comment on the human experience. Using a twist on the little book format, your students can explore the meanings of these animal-related idioms.

What to Do

- MATERIALS
- copy of the animal-related idioms (page 19)
 - copies of the directions (page 22)
 - white paper
 - scissors
 - hole puncher
 - colored pencils

1. Post the list of animal-related idioms in a central place in your classroom.
2. Give students the opportunity to choose four animal-related idioms to illustrate and write about.
3. Distribute copies of the directions. Have students follow the directions to create their very own Little Book of Animal Idioms.

My Little Book of Animal Idioms

Follow the directions below to create a Little Book to help you explore the meanings of animal-related idioms.

Directions

Part I

1. Fold a sheet of paper in half widthwise.
2. Fold it in half again in the same direction.

3. Fold this long, narrow strip in half in the opposite direction.

4. Unfold the paper to the position at the end of step 1, and cut halfway along the center fold.

5. Unfold the paper completely. There should be a slit in the center of the paper where you made the cut.

6. Fold the paper in half along the fold with the slit.

7. Push in on the ends of the paper so the slit opens. Keep pushing until the center panels meet.

8. Fold the pages to one side to form a book, and crease the edges.

9. Use a hole-puncher to punch two eyeholes through the top three pages as shown.

10. Use the eyeholes as a stencil to draw two circles on the last page of the book. These circles will be the eyes for the animals drawn on each of the pages of the little book. Color in the eyes.

Part II

Once you've created your book template, it's time to fill it in!

1. On each of the inside pages, draw an animal mentioned in three of the four idioms you chose, using the eyes you've created.
2. Under each animal, use creative lettering to write the idiom. On the page below each animal, write a few sentences that explain the meaning of the idiom.
3. On the cover, draw the animal related to the fourth idiom you chose. Personalize your book with a title. On the back cover of the little book, explain the idiom related to the cover illustration.

Animal-Related Idioms

- ◆ You can't teach an old dog new tricks

Logic With a Matrix

Using a matrix to organize information is a great way to solve certain logic problems. A matrix helps students isolate the information that is helpful in solving the problem and eliminate the information that is no longer needed. Logic problems that have three variables have a very different looking matrix. Without this visual representation, information is difficult to remember and consequently difficult for students to use.

The following is a teacher/students exchange from a fifth-grade classroom where students are solving the first problem in this section of the book.

Teacher: Today we are solving a different kind of logic problem and will use something called a matrix to help us solve it.

Show students the first problem and the matrix and ask them to tell you what they see.

Student: The matrix is like a square with different parts.

Student: There are names across the top of the matrix and different kinds of drinks along the side.

Student: The squares in the middle are empty.

Teacher: Will someone read the logic problem and then I'll read one clue at a time and we can use the matrix to solve it.

Have a student read the problem out loud and then read the first clue.

Student: What does it mean that Jamie and Sandy are good friends? What does that have to do with which drink they like best?

Teacher: Does anyone think they know how this clue helps us solve the problem?

Student: I think that it means that Jamie and Sandy can't be the people who like skim milk the best because they are friends with that person. So Jessie has to be the person who likes skim milk the best. Jamie and Sandy are good friends with Jessie who likes skim milk the best.

Teacher: Does that make sense to all of you? What can we put in the matrix to help us remember that it's Jessie who likes skim milk the best? We also need to put something in the matrix to help us remember that Sandy and Jamie do not like skim milk the best.

Student: You could put a check where Jessie and skim milk come together and then put an \times in the same row under Sandy and Jamie.

Student: Or you could color in the place to show that Jessie is the skim-milk person and put an \times under Sandy and Jamie.

Student: You also need to show that Jessie can't like any of the other drinks the best. So you'll need to draw \times 's underneath Jessie's name.

Teacher: Why don't I color in the place where it shows that Jessie likes skim milk the best?

Then it will be easy to see that Jessie is the skim-milk person. I'll put ×'s to show that no other person can have skim milk as their favorite drink, and to show that Jessie cannot like any of the other drinks as his favorite. The next clue says, Sandy likes a beverage that has an odd number of letters. Take ten seconds to think about this and then whisper what you think to your partner.

Once students have had this time, call on several students to share their ideas.

Student: Spring water and orange juice both have an odd number of letters. There's eleven letters in both of these drinks.

Teacher: So, what does that mean?

Student: It means that we still don't know which person likes which drink the best.

Teacher: OK. Let's read the next clue. Jamie does not like fruit juices. What does this clue tell us?

Student: This means that Jamie can't like orange juice. Orange juice is a fruit juice.

Teacher: So, what do I need to do on the matrix?

Student: You need to put an × where it shows Jamie and orange juice. Then you can color in where it shows Jamie and spring water. If he doesn't like orange juice the best, then he has to like spring water the best.

Teacher: OK. Now do we know which beverage Sandy likes the best?

Student: When you put an × under Jamie and orange juice that just leaves Sandy and orange juice. So, Sandy likes orange juice the best. Color in that square.

Teacher: Let's look at the matrix and see if it shows us who likes which beverage the best. You'll need to record your answers so it's easier to see them. Look over the matrix and reread the clues, checking to see that the answers make sense.

The 18 logic problems that follow include matrices for students to use to solve them.

Logic With a Matrix

Use the matrices to solve the problems.

5. Bernice, Florence, Walter, and Sharna collected data about the places where different classes of students liked to swim. Bernice surveyed the first-graders, Florence surveyed the second-graders, Walter surveyed the third-graders, and Sharna surveyed her classmates in fourth grade. Each grade level liked a different place to swim. The places were: the ocean, a lake, a swimming pool, and a pond. Use the clues to figure out which grade preferred which place to swim.

- Neither the oldest nor the youngest students preferred swimming in the ocean
- The students who liked swimming in the lake best, ate lunch each day with the third and second graders.
- The students Sharna surveyed like the lake the best.
- Second graders did not prefer the ocean or a swimming pool.
- The youngest children liked the pool the best.

	Bernice Grade 1	Florence Grade 2	Walter Grade 3	Sharna Grade 4
Ocean
Lake
Swimming Pool
Pond

6. Peter, Janice, Andrew, and Samuel love movies. One loves science-fiction films, one loves dramas, one loves comedies, and one loves westerns. Use the clues to figure out which person loves each type of movie.

- Andrew and Samuel don't like dramas.
- The girl loves science fiction.
- Andrew doesn't like westerns.

Science Fiction
Drama
Comedy
Westerns

Logic With a Matrix

Use the matrices to solve the problems.

7. Marie, Brian, Sally, Freddie, and Patricia went on a bike trail together. Each one rode a different distance. The distances were: 5 kilometers, 7 kilometers, 10 kilometers, 11 kilometers, and 12 kilometers. Use the clues to figure out which person rode which distance.

- Brian and the boy who rode 11 kilometers are good friends.
- Sally rode exactly twice as many kilometers as Patricia.
- Marie rode 5 more kilometers than Brian.

	Marie	Brian	Sally	Freddie	Patricia
5 km
7 km
10 km
11 km
12 km

8. Gordon, Candi, Nikki, and Stefanie each spent a different amount of time completing their homework the first week of school. One spent 5 hours and 20 minutes. One spent 4 hours and 40 minutes. One spent 3 hours and 45 minutes, and one spent 6 hours and 15 minutes. Use the clues to figure out how much time each person spent on their homework the first week of school.

- If you rounded the number of minutes that Gordon spent on his homework to the nearest hundred, it would be 300 minutes.
- Gordon spent more time than Nikki on homework.
- Stefanie spent 320 minutes on her homework.

	Gordon	Candi	Nikki	Stefanie
5 hours 20 min.
4 hours 40 min.
3 hours 45 min.
6 hours 15 min.

Logic With a Matrix

Use the matrices to solve the problems.

9. Five girls—Chau, Melinda, Hannah, Petra, and Benita—visited an amusement park. At the end of the day each said that they had a different favorite ride. These rides were named: Wild Grizzly, Tilt-a-Whirl, Mountain Climb, Swamp Coaster, and Ferris Wheel. Read the clues to figure out which ride was the favorite of each girl.

- Chau’s favorite ride has 9 more letters in it than her first name.
- Melinda’s favorite ride has 4 less letters than double the number of letters in her first name.
- Petra and Benita each love a ride that has 11 letters in its name.
- Benita’s best friend loved the Ferris Wheel the best.

	Chau	Melinda	Hannah	Petra	Benita
Wild Grizzly
Tilt-a-Whirl
Mountain Climb
Swamp Coaster
Ferris Wheel

10. Four friends talked about what they want to be when they become adults. Their names are Camille, Josie, Beth, and Mike. Each person wants to be something different. One wants to be an attorney, one wants to be an accountant, one wants to be a teacher, and one wants to work in a salon. Use the clues to figure out what each friend wants to become.

- The person who wants to become an accountant has the longest name.
- Josie and Mike were surprised when their friend said she wants to work in a salon.
- Josie doesn’t want to work in a school.

	Camille	Josie	Beth	Mike
Attorney

Logic With a Matrix

Use the matrices to solve the problems.

11. Charlie and the Chocolate Factory by Roald Dahl, Stuart Little by E. B. White, A Wrinkle in Time by Madeline L'Engle, and Tales of a Fourth Grade Nothing by Judy Blume are the favorite books of Serena, Matthew, Jacob, and Dexter. Use the clues below to figure out which person loves which book.

- Matthew's favorite book is written by a female author.
- Neither Jacob nor Serena like books about animals.
- Serena's favorite book is also about her favorite food.
- Jacob hasn't read A Swiftly Tilting Planet which was also written by the author who wrote his favorite book.

	Serena	Matthew	Jacob	Dexter
Charlie and the Chocolate Factory
Stuart Little
A Wrinkle in Time
Tales of a Fourth Grade Nothing

12. Five children found out that their birthdays were all one day after a holiday. The children's names are Felicity, Monroe, Belinda, Wyatt, and Brook. Their birthdays are January 2, February 15, March 18, July 5, and December 26.

Use the clues below to figure out each person's birthday.

- Belinda's birthday is the only summer birthday.
- Felicity's birthday comes right before New Year's Eve.
- On his birthday, Wyatt's gifts are often wrapped in leftover Valentine's Day wrapping paper.
- Monroe was almost the first baby born in the New Year.

Logic Using a Venn Diagram

Venn diagrams, developed by Englishman John Venn (1834–1923) are a powerful problem-solving tool allowing students to display attributes or information from two or three different sets. Teachers often use this visual representation when discussing the characters in a piece of literature or when making observations about things in science class. The Venn diagram logic problems that follow provide students with problems where they will have to add and/or subtract to figure out answers. In most cases the Venn diagram provides them with a means of seeing how the information from the problem will look.

The following is a teacher/students exchange from a sixth-grade classroom. This will help you see how to use these problems with your own students.

Teacher: Think of something you can say about this.

Show students the Venn diagram and ask them to describe what they see.

Student: There are two ovals that cross over each other.

Student: The ovals are empty.

Teacher: Has anyone ever used one of these before, or seen one of these?

Student: We use these to write characteristics of characters in a book. Sometimes two characters have characteristics that are the same and you write those in the middle part.

Student: The middle part means that the information is the same for both of the characters.

Teacher: Has anyone used these in any other classes?

Student: We used them in math class in third grade when we did data collection.

Teacher: So, this diagram has a special name. It's called a Venn diagram. It's actually named after a man named John Venn who used these to solve logic problems. We're going to use them to solve logic problems, too.

Show the first logic problem to the students and ask them to silently read the information that is given to them.

Teacher: Let's label the two ovals to help us organize the information from the problem. Think about what this (Point to the first oval.) might have as its label.

Student: You need to write the name of one of the favorite flavors of ice cream on top of each of the ovals.

Teacher: So, this loop will represent the students who like fudge swirl as their favorite flavor of ice cream and this oval will represent the students who like chocolate chip as their favorite flavor.

Add the labels.

Student: It says that 5 children only liked chocolate chip.

Teacher: Where should we write the number 5 to show that this amount of people only liked chocolate chip?

Student: You need to put it inside the loop that says chocolate chip in the part that doesn't overlap with the fudge swirl loop.

Teacher: How did you know that this would be the best place to put the 5?

Student: The overlapping part would be for people who couldn't make up their mind, and they said that they liked both chocolate chip and fudge swirl the same.

Teacher: OK. Would someone read the next clue?

Student: 8 children only liked fudge ripple.

Teacher: So, where should we write the number 8?

Student: The 8 needs to be inside the other loop in the part that doesn't overlap.

Student: 8 people liked only one kind of ice cream best.

Teacher: Would someone read the next statement?

Student: Some children liked them both the same.

Teacher: What do we know from this clue?

Student: We know that there needs to be a number in the middle, but we don't know what this number is yet.

Teacher: Let's look at the last clue and see if it helps us figure out how many students will need to go in the center. Would someone read the last clue?

Student: 22 children were surveyed.

Teacher: Talk with your partner and take a minute to figure out how many people will go in the intersection of the two loops.

Give children a minute to do this. After someone has given an answer be sure to ask them how they figured out the answer they shared.

Student: The number 9 has to go in the center.

Teacher: Did anyone get a different answer?

Teacher: How do you know that 9 is the correct amount?

Student: If you add the 5 and the 8 that equals 13. But the last clue says that a total of 22 students were surveyed. So, I subtracted 13 from 22 and that equals 9. So, 9 students liked both chocolate chip and fudge swirl the same.

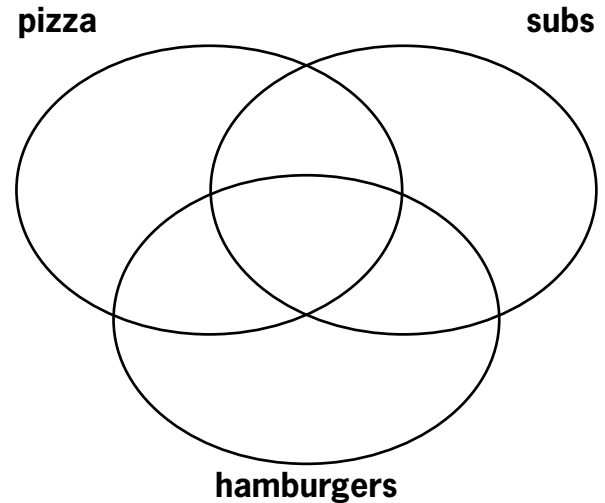

The following Venn diagram problems can be used as a "warm-up" before beginning mathematics class or they can be used as independent work or paired work for students.

Logic Using a Venn Diagram

Use the Venn diagrams to display the results in each problem.

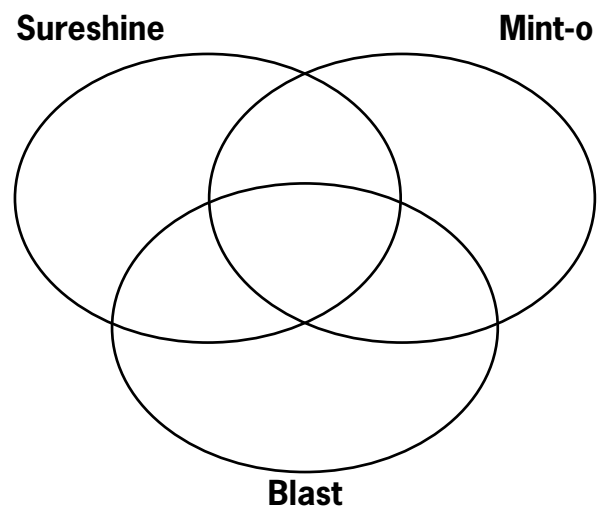

5. Preparing for their class graduation party, 68 students voted on what food they wanted to serve. The choices they selected were pizza, subs, and hamburgers. Some students chose more than one food.

- 20 people picked only pizza but 36 people picked pizza.
- 29 people wanted subs.
- 4 of the students picked all three things.
- 11 students wanted burgers and subs.
- 7 students wanted subs and pizza.
- 30 people picked burgers.

6. 100 dentists were surveyed about the toothpaste they recommended to their patients. The toothpastes were Sureshine, Mint-o, and Blast. Some of the dentists picked more than one toothpaste.

- 20 dentists recommended all three toothpastes.
- 30 recommended both Sureshine and Mint-o.
- 15 recommended only Mint-o.
- Mint-o was recommended by a total of 47 dentists.
- 26 recommended Sureshine and Blast.
- A total of 50 dentists recommended Sureshine.

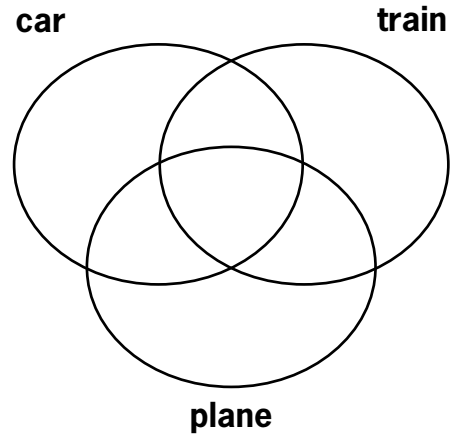

Logic Using a Venn Diagram

Use the Venn diagrams to display these results and answer the questions.

7. When asked which method of transportation 43 New Yorkers had used when traveling to Washington, D.C., in the last year, the following data was collected.

- 31 people said that they had traveled by train.
- 9 people said they had traveled by plane and train.
- 7 people said they had driven and gone by train.
- 4 people said they had only traveled by car.
- A total of 17 people said plane.
- Only 11 people said automobile.
- No one said they'd traveled by plane, train, and automobile.

How many people said only train? _____

How many people said only plane? _____

How many people said only car? _____

Did anyone say plane and auto? _____

8. 200 students responded to a survey about desserts they liked.

- 20 people said just pie.
- 11 people said only ice cream.
- 31 people liked cake, pie, and ice cream equally.
- 59 people said when given a choice, they'd pick either cake or pie.
- 110 people liked cake with 8 people saying they like cake only.

How many people said ice cream and pie? _____

How many people said both cake and ice cream? _____

Get the Scoop!

It's the annual ice cream scooping contest where people compete to see who can stack the most scoops of ice cream. Last year's winner, Darby, had 24 scoops! How did this year's participants do? Use the clues to find out. Then write the winner's name in the blank below.

Participants	Clues	Number of scoops
1. Zaura	one scoop chocolate chip, two caramel swirl, four raspberry
2. Ellis	twelve scoops cookie dough, half as many mint chocolate chip
3. Clara	six scoops banana, twice as many fudge swirl
4. Darby	three scoops vanilla, four times as many chocolate
5. Chang	five scoops strawberry, half as many raspberry as Zaura
6. Thelma	20 scoops rocky road, one-fourth as many butter pecan, and one-fifth as many cookies and cream as butter pecan
7. Deon	half as many banana as Clara, one-third mint chocolate chip as banana, and ten times caramel swirl as mint chocolate chip
8. Gabriela	twelve scoops vanilla, two-thirds that amount of cinnamon stick, and three times as many super fudge chunk as cinnamon stick

Pyramid Challenge

Each “pyramid” below is missing some “bricks.” To plug the holes, you’ll need to figure out the number pattern in each pyramid’s sequence of numbers. Start at the top and read left to right, writing in the missing numbers that complete each sequence on the correct bricks. Describe the pattern on the lines provided.

Comparing Numbers

STRENGTH in Numbers

Everyone knows there are 26 letters in the alphabet. Letter a is the first, b is the second, c is the third, and so on. Below are several statements concerning numbers. Write whether each statement is true or false by changing each letter of each word to their number equivalent in the alphabet and adding them together. We've done the first one for you.

Greater than or less than?	Do the math	True or false?
1. six > zero	s i x z e r o $19 + 9 + 24 > 26 + 5 + 18 + 15$ (52 > 64)	false
2. nine > seven
3. two > one
4. twelve > eight
5. eighty > sixty
6. fifty > thirteen
7. thirty-one > twenty-one
8. seventy-four > forty-seven

YOUR TURN

Create three "greater than" statements using the word form of numbers and ask a classmate, friend, or family member to determine if they're true or false.

Prime Numbers

Prime Time for Prime Numbers

Prime time is a television term meaning the period between 8 P.M. and 11 P.M.—the time when the most people watch TV. Ed is doing research on television quality so he must watch a lot of TV. This is his TV-watching schedule for next week. Circle the shows that are both on a prime number channel and shown during prime time. Channels are listed in boldface after the shows.

A prime number is greater than 1 and cannot be evenly divided by any other number besides 1 and itself. For example, 11 is a prime number because any other number besides 1 and 11 cannot evenly divide it. The number 12 is not a prime number because, besides 1 and 12, it can be evenly divided by 2, 3, 4, and 6.

Time	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday	Sunday
7 P.M.	Circle of Riches 8	Friendly Neighbors 13	Peril 59	Twist City 18	Relatives Rumble 4	Toodles 22	Judge Julie 68
